PROFESSIONAL OVERVIEW

Gary Chartier (JD, UCLA; PhD, Cambridge) is Professor of Law and Business Ethics and Associate Dean of the Zapara School of Business at La Sierra University. He is the author of Anarchy and Legal Order, Economic Justice and Natural Law, The Conscience of an Anarchist, and The Analogy of Love, and the co-editor (with Charles W. Johnson) of Markets Not Capitalism. Anarchy and Legal Order was the focus of a 2012 University of Arizona workshop; sessions at the 2013 and 2011 conventions of the American Philosophical Association's Pacific Division have been devoted, respectively, to Anarchy and Legal Order and Economic Justice. His byline has appeared more than thirty times in journals including the Oxford Journal of Legal Studies, Legal Theory, and Law and Philosophy. He received La Sierra's triennial Distinguished Scholarship Award in 2010. He has guested on Reason TV and The Young Turks with Cenk Uygur. He has taught in all four of La Sierra's schools and both of its interdisciplinary general education programs; in the classroom, he seeks to deliver well-organized courses that challenge students to think and write critically and to engage with up-to-date, creative scholarship. As an administrator, he has facilitated curricular development, policy formulation, and the recruitment of faculty members.
